COMMON GOOD CYBER

PROJECT SPONSORSHIP

With the click of a button – or a few – we access our finances, order food, we turn on our ovens, baby monitors, and cooling and heating systems, we consume global media and communicate with our loved ones and colleagues.

Thanks to the Internet, all of these pieces of life are at our fingertips. Underpinning this interconnected ecosystem are organizations and volunteers that maintain the security and availability of a trustworthy Internet. Without their dedication, our business investments and personal priorities would be undermined.

Only through multi-stakeholder partnerships and collective action, can we build a stronger internet for future generations. Common Good Cyber seeks to drive this collective action. To do so, we must raise capital.

Join us in building a strong Internet!
